Wallace Reid in "The Dub" At the Star Next Sunday

Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, "The Dub," is the story of a man who made good. One man sees him flinch in a trivial test of his nerves and decides that he is a coward. The narrative shows in swiftly moving dramatic incidents how he proved he was no weakling. "The Dub" will be displayed at the Star theater next Sunday.

John Craig is the hero. It is a splendid Reid part and brings out the best aspects of courage and manhood. Caught in a tight place, Craig refuses to be downed. Beaten, he comes back for more punishment, solving a mystery and winning a beautiful girl in the bargain.

The story was written by Edgar Franklin and directed by James Cruze, who has proved many times both as actor and director that he has a keen sense of comedy and the dramatic.

The support is excellent. Pretty Nina Byron, whose work in recent Afton and Paramount pictures has won her many admirers has the lead, feminine role. And four of the finest character actors in the pictures are cast in important roles. They are Raymond Hatton, Winter Hall, Ralph Lewis and Charles Ogle. Guy Oliver is also among those present with a splendid comedy part. And Billy Elmer gives an unforgettable portrait of a hard boiled gangster.

Will M. Ritchey put the story into screen form. Charles Rosher was the cameraman and William Horwitz assisted Mr. Cruze with the direction.

Enterprise Mill Re-Builds. Enterprise—On the ruins of the mill burned last fall, the East Oregon Lumber company has built a larger mill, which will begin operations about May 15. The company has been logging with a small crew through the winter and spring and has decked in its pond and in the woods 6,000,000 feet of logs, insuring a steady run. The East Oregon company has timber holdings, both privately owned and in forest reserves, sufficient to keep the mill going for more than 30 years. It gives employment to 300 men.

City Installs Garbage Cans on Main Street Corners

The city duds are looking forward to the completion of every Heppner in the work of keeping the streets clean and free from waste paper and other rubbish. Garbage cans have been placed on convenient corners of Main street and hereafter, when you have something to throw away, carry it a few steps and put it in the garbage can. The health of the city depends largely upon the cleanliness of the people. The garbage can is one more step in the direction of a city beautiful, a city healthful and a city free from dirt. Let's all cooperate.

Knights of Pythias Buy Corner Lot on Main Street

Doric Lodge No. 29, Knights of Pythias plan to own their lodge hall eventually. The first step was taken in that direction this week when the lodge purchased the Scribner lot, situated at northwest corner of Main and Baltimore streets. It will be two or three years possibly, before the lodge will be in a position to start building operations, but the members believe this to be an excellent time to gain possession of a desirable lot.

LOOK BEYOND THE TEETH

JOHN DAY DIRECTORS PLAN FOR BIG PICNIC

Great Project of North Morrow Will Be Scene of Barbecue Last Day of May—State Engineer Confers with Directors.

The tentative date set for the John Day Barbecue and picnic is Monday, May 31. This date may be changed if it is found to be not the best time for a large number of Portland business men and capitalists, who are planning to attend.

The directors of the John Day Irrigation District met on the office of Secretary F. R. Brown on Tuesday and a number of important matters were taken up. The prime matter just now is that of financing the district. Just as soon as this problem is solved, one of the best engineers in the country will be employed and work on the project will be rushed at the greatest possible speed.

State Engineer Percy Capper arrived from Salem on Tuesday and went into lengthy conference with the directors. He also talked of the possibilities of the John Day project over with other business men while in the city.

Film Fans Admire Hart's Qualities

Virility, the breeziness of the West, the qualities of manhood that inspire admiration, are the strongest traits of William S. Hart, whose latest Artcraft picture, "Bread of Heaven," will be shown at the Star theater next Friday.

During his screen career, Mr. Hart has depicted Western types of every description—bad men, punchers, woodsmen, ranchers, etc. His remarkable forceful personality impresses a realism of his acting that lifts it out of the commonplace and renders it distinctly superior and convincing.

His new picture gives great opportunities for the famous star, for the role he portrays is that of a positive daredevil among cowpunchers, a man who is afraid of nothing. He is involved innocently in a great wrong which he righted, finally after some strenuous work. Seena Owen is his leading woman.

Work, Save or Starve Is Warning of Ole Hanson

Chicago, May 4.—"Work and save, or starve," was the warning given here by Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, and the man who made the I. W. W. jump through the hoops at a critical time in the history of Seattle.

"The cause of unrest that is not bolshevism," he said, "is caused by the large amount of wealth destroyed during the war. The remedy for this is unity of purpose. Everybody must work and save, or starve."

Speaking briefly of politics as he observed conditions throughout the country he predicted a dark horse would be nominated at Chicago, one whose name has not yet been made public.

"Conditions throughout the country," he continued, "indicate that people want to buy goods at 1914 prices and sell them at 1920 prices. In other words, profiteering is the trouble."

"I have no antagonism or hatred for the labor unions, but the tendency throughout the country is to restrict production in order to get high wages. This is apparent in the South, where cotton planters are being told they can get more for a two-third acreage than they can for a full crop."

"The syndicalist argues that the less he does the more he will have. Never before in the history of the world have the people enjoyed such prosperity, but unless we arouse ourselves to the crisis awaiting us and get to work, we are in for a terrific bump."—Portland Telegram.

Levi Hansford Dropped Dead on Main Street on Tuesday

Levi Hansford, a resident of Oregon for forty years, dropped dead on Main street in this city on Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock. He had been in poor health for several years.

Mr. Hansford was a native of Kanawha county, West Virginia. He is survived by his brother, James Hansford of this city and a half brother, A. B. Rook of Cottonwood, Idaho. The funeral was held this afternoon from the Case Undertaking parlors and interment took place in Masonic cemetery.

Fire Destroyed Farm Home.

Fire completely destroyed the farm home of Adam Blahn, four miles below Heppner, one day last week. A high wind was blowing at the time and the fire burned with such intensity that it was impossible to save anything in the house. Help from Heppner prevented the flames from spreading to the barn and other out buildings. The loss is estimated at $4000. There was some insurance.

Indications Point to Severe Gasoline Shortage in Summer

Present indications point to a severe shortage of gasoline this summer, and right now here in Heppner, this shortage is quite noticeable. Ten days ago there was scarcely a gallon of gas to be had. The situation was somewhat relieved when a ten thousand gallon tank was received here and one of like capacity in Ione. Since the first of the week, this oil has been practically sold out. Certain reservations are being made for truck men and farmers who are doing tractor work. Geo. W. Milholland, local agent for the Standard Oil Company says that most people do not fully realize the seriousness of the gasoline situation today, or they would be more saving. It is his opinion that a shortage exists in this territory right today that may not be overcome this summer.

County Agent L. A. Hunt, accompanied by state engineer, Percy Capper, went out to Hardman on Wednesday.

Wm. Hendrix, extensive Heppner flat farmer, was in the city on business on Wednesday.

An exciting game of baseball was played between Eight Mile and Lexington on the Eight Mile diamond last Sunday. A large crowd witnessed the contest.

Christian Church, Sunday, May 9.

It should be borne in mind that next Sunday is "Mother's Day," and while the occasion will not be observed in a special manner at the Bible school of the Christian church, yet it is desired that the day be fittingly remembered by the wearing of the white flower, either a carnation or a rose. The Bible studies are especially interesting at this time, and a full attendance of the classes is desired, that the lessons of this present quarter may be fully fixed in our minds. Be in your place next Sunday morning promptly at ten.

Announcement was made last week of the coming of a new pastor to this church and Mrs. Livingston is expected to be present for both morning and evening services on Sunday. All members and friends of the church are cordially invited to join in this worship.

Y. P. S. C. E. at usual hour in the evening.

Laxton McMurray and "Manny" Pettys of Jordan Siding, were doing business in Heppner Wednesday. They are now "up to their eyes" in the irrigation game, getting water on their alfalfa fields while the getting is good. Both these farmers were rejoicing over the fine growing weather, and grain and alfalfa are coming up with a jump these warm days.

Strayed. From my Rhea creek ranch, one 4 year old steer, dark red and white spotted. Right ear cropped and left ear under-slopped. Branded EXD or lazy H on left ribs and right hip. Also one red heifer 3 years old with same brand and mark. Reward. Notify E. G. Haverstick, Heppner.

Mrs. Mary E. Hayes Passes.

Mrs. Mary E. Hayes passed away in this city on Monday after a long illness, at 61 years of age. Mrs. Hayes had been a resident of Morrow county for many years and leaves many friends to mourn her untimely death. Suffering for many months with a fortitude that was amazing, Mrs. Hayes kept her normal mind almost up to the last moment.

Her husband Joseph C. Hayes had preceded her to the grave by only a few weeks. Three children, Olin and Elra, sons and a daughter, Neva survive. Three brothers are also left to mourn her departure. They are Andy Hayes of Heppner, Frank Hayes of Pendleton and Richard Hayes of Eugene. John Turley, of Baker, who was here during the last few weeks, was a brother-in-law.

Funeral services were held in the First Christian church on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wm. C. Worstell of the Lexington church. Mrs. Hayes had been a member of the local Christian church for many years. The church was filled with the many friends who came to pay their last respects to a loving mother and wife and a true, sincere neighbor. Burial was made in the Masonic cemetery.

WOOL MEN ORGANIZE LOCAL ASSOCIATION

Growers Endorse Plan to Make Portland Wool Marketing Center—Will Send Information Through Monthly Publication.

The Morrow County Farm Bureau was host to the members of the Oregon Woolgrowers Association in this city last Saturday afternoon, at which time the Morrow County Woolgrowers Association was organized. The officers of the new local organization are L. V. Gentry, president; John J. Kelly, vice president; L. A. Hunt, secretary and E. O. Neill, treasurer. These men, with R. W. Turner, E. E. Rugg and Jack Hynd compose the board of directors and executive committee.

The Morrow County Woolgrowers Association will be affiliated with the state association as well as the county farm bureau.

A resolution was adopted asking the state president to appoint a committee to consider marketing and financing the sheep industry. The committee would report at the annual meeting of the state association to be held next winter.

The date of meeting of the local association has been tentatively placed at one week prior to the date of the annual meeting of the Oregon State Woolgrowers Association.

Secretary Mac Hoke of the state association, was present on Saturday and outlined the plan to increase marketing information for sheep buyers and published market reports to growers. This would all be given out monthly in a publication which the association will issue.

It was the unanimous sentiment of the members present not to hold a sale in Heppner this year, but rather have a series of sales in Portland, where growers of the Northwest could dispose of their clips.

Visiting wool men were guests of the Heppner Commercial Club at a "Snack" and get-together meeting in the evening. W. P. Mahoney, president as toastmaster.
